May 21, 2012 I was privileged to enjoy visiting with Amo and sharing some special moments with her and her family over the years. She was striking in many ways, beautiful in many dimensions. She had a stateliness of spirit and carriage that was revealed when she recited Episcopal prayers from memory, applying them to the immediate topic of conversation; but this elegance of bearing and soulful perspective seemed to be her natural state of being. She was both fragile and tenacious, and she inspired a kind of awe in me. May the power of her presence remain with you who knew and loved her best, and the comfort of the Christ she adored sustain you in your grief. Love, Diane
