Ezra Storm Shorr

APR 17, 1988 - NOV 19, 2014

Ezra Storm Shorr (April 17, 1988 - November 19, 2014) dashing and devoted son of Kenneth and Alisa Eve, courageous brother of Reuven, adored uncle of Elijah & Benjamin (and all the babies to come) and profoundly loyal friend. Ezra found great joy being with la mishpachah. Ezra's love was out of this world. We love you madly, deeply, always and always. Go Devils! A Dream Within a Dream
Edgar Allan Poe
Take this kiss upon the brow!
And, in parting from you now,
Thus much let me avow:
You are not wrong who deem
That my days have been a dream;
Yet if hope has flown away
In a night, or in a day,
In a vision, or in none,
Is it therefore the less gone?
All that we see or seem
Is but a dream within a dream.
I stand amid the roar
Of a surf-tormented shore,
And I hold within my hand
Grains of the golden sand--
How few! yet how they creep
Through my fingers to the deep,
While I weep--while I weep!
O God! can I not grasp
Them with a tighter clasp?
O God! can I not save
One from the pitiless wave?
Is all that we see or seem
But a dream within a dream?

For Ezra
New Year's Day
Though deep indifference should drowse
The sluggish life beneath my brows
And all the external things I see
Grow snow-showers in the street to me,
Yet inmost in my stormy sense
Thy looks shall be an influence.
Though other loves may come and go
And long years sever us below,
Shall the thin ice that grows above
Freeze the deep centre-well of love?
No, still below the light amours,
thou shalt rule me as thou rul'st me now.
Year following year shall only set
Fresh gems upon thou coronet;
And Time, grown lover, shall delight
To beautify thee in my sight;
And thou shalt ever rule in me
Crowned with the light of memory.
A poem for you by Robert Louis Stevenson found inside a chocolate bar.

Ezra, a few memories from our times together
In the big room at a family gathering, toddling after your brother in his ASU t-shirt, delighting your father's father with a joy I'd never seen before.
In the bright winter sunshine, you and Reuven rocking back and forth from heel to toe, singing in unison "Ice, ice, baby/da-dun da-da-da-da dun-da/Ice, ice, baby.
In the refurbished temple with its beautiful rabbi, before the open Torah, your mother's father, and then you, reciting scripture at your Bar Mitzvah.
Afterwards, at the reception in celebration of your day, we hear the music in the background, "May God bless and keep you always/Forever young, forever young/May you be forever young."
And only weekends ago, your mother lights Friday's Shabbat candles and on my last Saturday night with you, your parents and I sit the bench as you paced the television sideline exhorting your team to a 4th quarter comeback, exultant in victory and looking forward to the Rose Bowl.
Bless you Ezra, bless you families Shorr and Ziprin, bless you Reuven, Alisa, and Ken, best friend from womb to tomb.

Ezra, Nobody wants to be writing things like these but you were once part of my family and I can't be there in person, so this is my humble way of making sure you still live on in the words of this page at such a young age you are now gone from this place hopefully, you are where you want to be peace, smiling, laughing, happy i remember your laugh, it was contagious like the flu i remember that you were full of life and had a good attitude when i got the news i was in shock i wanted to talk but had no words to express my pain, my pain runs deep because we all wish to go peacefully in our sleep after years of living Ezra, if you can hear me, please know that you are a wonderful man, a good person, a smart person with so much to offer this world i can't imagine how your family feels if i feel so sad to know the times we had will just be memories, even though you weren't around just knowing your feet were somewhere on the ground and that you were safe and sound was enough sometimes people just fall out of love, like the seasons change so do emotions so one day it was over but we never forgot you and never will it's like you are a bright star in the night that no longer shines i wish to celebrate your life rather than focus on your demise if you could see you through my eyes i think you'd be surprised and even though you are an ASU fan we loved you being part of the family it's a tragedy and i hope these words help your family know that you will be missed deeply by everybody hopefully you're in the promised land i wish i could shake your hand and wouldn't we have all liked a formal good bye? but that's life just know that you did survive in our hearts and in our minds there isn't another Ezra to find you were one of a kind i love you man better stop now before i start crying love sariya
