Stephanie Dryden posted:

I remember dinners at Blue Willow, hours eating air popped popcorn and talking about life. I remember her doing art work--constantly. I still have some pieces that she gave to me in high school. I remember her passion for Prince. Her love for bagels. Her eye for beauty, and her incredible ability to find thrift store gems. I remember her intelligence and vibrance. I remember her struggles to find herself, to be independent. I remember her ability to love. Yvette was unconventional, daring and brave.

Susan Goad sent a virtual gift in honor of Yvette.

Made a donation to ClawsandPawsAz.org a no-kill shelter in Yvette's memory, Hiedi thought Yvette would approve. If anyone would like to do the same. Much love to the family. Susan Goad, Facebook friend
