Marvin Barry Dechter, 72, passed away January 2, 2021.

Today will be one of the hardest days of my life having to say goodbye to my best friend & soul mate for over 46 years ! In addition to knowing him & having our 1st date when I was only 18. Our first date was a double date @ a drive in in Chicago that didn't go very well! He spilled orange soda ! Although he remembers it was coke he spilled on me. I am still in shock & can't believe he's gone . He was always there for me throughout the years ! We grew up together taking care of my dad who was disabled & suffered from depression when my Mom passed away from cancer soon after we were married !

He was my rock there for me when I had surgery for my colon twisting & throughout the effects of radiation that literally fried me during my 1st breast cancer diagnosis & the 2nd time around with a local occurrence 14 years later ! We went through years of trying to have a child & lost our house & our car which he was so fond of.

He had an extremely difficult time at dialysis the past several months. He fought so hard to survive & had so many close calls before G-D decided he wanted another 😊 I wmiss him so much & hope and pray he is finally at peace . I am truly grateful for all of you who were there for us followed us our roller coaster journey w/ your calls prayers texts kindness

Marv had a heart of gold & would give the shirt off his back to help everyone. His last call to me was to make sure I paid my cell phone . He was always worried about me ! He did have a short fuse & would say what he felt ! Yet he was so grateful & appreciated any little thing someone did to help him

He was a wonderful hubby Dad Grandpa brother( in law ) uncle cousin & friend . May he RIP w/ the 😊 & his memory be a blessing . I can't believe my better half is gone He will always be in my ( our ) hearts ) I will always be a part of me & the Luv of my life . I keep wanting to call him on the
