Eric Scott Rosales

AUG 8, 1986 - NOV 8, 2021

Eric Scott Rosales has been called by God to his paradise on November 8, 2021.

Eric was the youngest of three children born to Steve and Lynn Rosales on August 8, 1986. He was raised in the Hudson Valley New York and returned to Arizona where he has lived since 2004. Eric will be missed and is very loved by his family. He is survived by his mom and dad Steven and Lynette Rosales, grandmother Patricia Rodriguez, siblings Steven Rosales Jr(Cristina), Lindsey Gillespie(David), niece, three nephews and many extended family.

Our family wishes to grieve privately and thus there will not be a public service.

Eric always found love and peace when admiring the beauty of nature and the creatures of this world and our Sonoran Desert. In lieu of flowers our family would be honored if you would consider a donation in Eric's memory to Arizona Sonoran Desert Museum or Reid Park Zoo

We would go on hikes in the mountains around our house. He would carry Patrick on his shoulders. The whole way up and down with a big smile on his face. He taught him to flip rocks to look for bugs. Eric and Cali would draw landscapes and learn to play ukulele. He was brilliant, caring, kind. He was my bunny. I love you Eric Always and Forever.

I am so very sorry to hear of Eric passing. He was always a strong willed, smart and funny kid. He grew up to be an amazing man, so handsome, intelligent and extremely talented. He could always make you laugh. His smile was contagious and would brighten your day. My deepest condolences to you all. Rest In Peace Eric.

Dearest Lynn and family, I am saddened by the passing of Eric! We met in the early 90's and not long after my first appointment I fell in love with the time we spent together and loved seeing and meeting your family. I can never say anything that could make it better but know that my heart is with you and your family. I will keep you in my prayers every day. Eric please sleep in peace and send your mom and dad signs frequently so they know you are ok. Sending much love and healing (((hugs)))) Missy

There are no words to describe this sadness, so I'm going to concentrate on a few of the memories I will hold closest to my heart. My earliest memories are flooded with Eric's bright smile and loud outbursts. Back then we covered our ears and I'm so thankful he was too loud drown out. I can still hear him yelling "dookie" and "pookins" as if it was 1992 again. Echoing across Brookshire. He had to be only 5 years old when he decided he could give my dad a piggyback ride... and he did! Boxing matches with stuffed animal puppets. The nights watching him play football under the lights. He was a stellar athlete and teammate. That time his punishment was digging a trench at my parents house.... he did his work and when he was done, he did laps in the pool with me so I wasn't swimming alone. It always turned into us trying to drown each other. I will always miss being a kid with him. His excitement for my first born at the baby shower the Rosales clan planned and spoiled me with. How proud he was that I married Randy and that my daughter and I finally shared the same last name. He was so proud of my talent to crochet eventhough his talents far exceeded mine. So humble. My favorite memory is from the last time I saw him and got to squeeze him. He was surrounded (and I mean SURROUNDED.) by so much family and love. I sat back and watched him sugar up all the littles, my boy ate all but 3 of his Starburst before I realized what happened. I know I will sing so much louder, play that much longer and love even harder because of him. I love you Eric.

Eric Scott, my baby. My last born. Funny, so smart, artistic, beautiful. Not sure how to go on without you here. You have taught so much about so many things. I don't step on spiders anymore because I know they are not going to run across the patio to attack me. You reminded me to let go of my anger or it would destroy things that are important to me. I needed to hear that and it was you that said it. I hope in time my memories will bring comfort. Right now it's just a pain in my soul that you are not here with you beautiful smile. I wish for one more song with your beautiful voice, one more I love you Mom.

Lynn I cannot express my sorrow for the loss of your son. When I first saw it I was as just in shock. It took me all day to be able to figure out what to say to you. Nothing I say can make you feel any better but I wanted you to know that you are in my thoughts and prayers always. I'm so so sorry for your loss. My heart is truly broken for you and your family. My mom sends her sincerest condolences as well. Please stay as strong as you can as your family needs you now more than ever♥♥♥

Mijo! I will miss you emmensely you live in my heart. I have so many lovely memories of my Beautiful he is extremely smart, talented and gifted, he taught himself to play the guitar until he perfected it, had a beautiful voice, he. He carried his guitar with because he couldn't always carry his drums, he carried Bongos, I know he will be serenading the Angels in Heaven. He asked when he was 14 to teach him to make chocolate cookies and we danced the twist to 50's my era, walks in the woods listening to birds and taking in nature listening to the sounds of silence, I could go on and on I hope his memories all fit in my ❤️ May Perpetual Light upon you my child and Rest in Peace I love you I adore you, till we meet again, Grandma (Abuela)

Eric will be missed for many things. His funny and accurate imitations of movie characters, his love of recreating nature on canvas, his love of all of nature's creatures including spiders and scorpions. But what I will miss most of all is his beautiful smile. My deepest sympathies are with Lynette and Steve along with all of the Rosales family. RIP Eric, your Aunt Kristin loves you lots and lots.
