Elizabeth Ann Dixon Quillin

MAR 25, 1930 - FEB 13, 2026

*E*lizabeth Ann Dixon Quillin 1930-2026

She was deeply loved and tenderly cared for through every moment of her life. Even during times when she endured profound hurt—including the painful actions of her own daughter—she was never abandoned. She was carried with dignity, compassion, and unwavering respect through the final chapter of her life, even when others chose not to be present. May her devoted grandson, Zachary, always remember the love she gave and the sacrifices she made for him. It was through his care that she received the kindness and devotion she deserved all along. In her final days, when gently asked about certain family members, she no longer remembered them—perhaps a quiet mercy after all she had endured. In this way, she was blessed with peace. Now she rests reunited with her beloved husband, whose love for her never wavered and who cherished her as she deserved. We also honor her goddaughter, Cousin Debbie, who never forgot her and remained faithful in love and remembrance. Rest peacefully, Liz. Your pigs were waiting for you—ready for one more walk by your side. May you finally know the peace and love you always deserved.
